

Board 'will consider meetings in public'

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A COMMUNITY partnership will consider making its board meetings public – after the town council threatened to back out if it didn't.

At a meeting of Haverhill town council on Tuesday night, councillors voted to request that ONE Haverhill adopt a number of "transparency and representation" measures.

And the town council decided to offer to provide administrative services to ONE Haverhill if the measures were put in place.

As well as public meetings, they requested that public health and town council representation should be increased on the board, the chairperson be changed every 12 months, and that the name of the group be changed to ONE Haverhill Partnership.

If the offer of help and the new measures were not agreed to, the council voted to "regretfully" leave the partnership.

Eight town councillors voted in favour of this decision. Cllrs Maureen Byrne and Paula Fox abstained from the vote, and Cllr Jason Crooks voted against it.

Cllr Crooks said: "I am not happy with this motion at all. ONE Haverhill has snubbed residents for three years in a row."

He objected to the fact that the town council was offering administrative services to the partnership.

He said: "Why are we providing all these services to ONE Haverhill – so that they change their minds? It's disgraceful."

Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "My big fear has been that ONE Haverhill would take over what the town council is responsible for. To me this gives us control."

Cllr John Burns, who voted in favour of the decision, said that the council was giving ONE Haverhill "one last chance".

The morning after the meeting, ONE Haverhill deputy chairman and borough councillor Alaric Pugh said ONE Haverhill would be reviewing its operations.

He said: "Our focus on changing what the community tells us is important is now even more critical and the way we operate must flow from that. Form has to follow function. It is important that we get this right and proposals are currently coming forward from a number of quarters following a recent workshop. Discussions will continue and I'm sure the partnership will end up even better able to deliver for Haverhill."

He said that the forthcoming discussions would "absolutely" involve the possibility of the meetings becoming public, and added: "The Town Council's offer of admin support could well solve one of the problems the partnership has recently highlighted. I'm sure the chair will be discussing this with the Town Council in the next few days."

ONE Haverhill was established in 2011 as one of 12 government-backed community budgeting initiatives, and there has long been controversy about the fact that its board meetings are held in private.

At a workshop on Thursday, September 17, members of the board – which includes representatives from councils, schools, faith groups and business – voted in favour of a recommendation not to start admitting the public.

In light of this recommendation, local policing commander Inspector Peter Ferrie and town, borough and county councillor Tony Brown both resigned from the ONE Haverhill board.

The administrative services that the town council has offered to provide have previously been provided on an ad hoc basis by Suffolk County Council. The county council has been charging for the service.

YOUTH

Survey reveals young people's wishes

YOUNG people would like to see a place in Haverhill where they can participate in activities from skateboarding to dancing, according to a new survey.

The survey, carried out by YMCA youth workers on behalf of the town council, is helping councillors to decide how to provide a new youth hub for the town.

Town clerk Colin Poole said at a town council meeting on Tuesday:

"What's interesting is that apparently all the young people asked say that the information they can get in this town is excellent."

Rather than a place to find things out, young people want somewhere to take part in activities, Mr Poole said.

He continued: "A lot of them would like to see more facilities such as a skate park."

The survey also suggested that young people wanted to have a place where music and dance events could take place.

These are the initial results from the survey and the full report has not yet been received by the town council.

When it is, it will help them make decisions about how to create a youth hub.

FIGHT: A man's face was slashed in this area of Chalkstone Way on Monday evening

Arrest after man's face is slashed

A MAN had his face slashed during an assault in Haverhill on Monday evening.

The incident took place around 6.20pm in the town's Chalkstone Way, just past Couplands Close.

It followed a dispute at a property in Piper's Close, after which one man cycled off down an alleyway towards Chalkstone Way, followed by another on foot.

Two children walking with their mother were caught up in the incident when the man on the bicycle collided with them.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Both of the children - one of whom was in a buggy and one on foot - sustained minor injuries.

The two men continued on foot to Chalkstone Way, where they began fighting in the road.

A 37-year-old man sustained superficial cuts to his head during the fight.

The ambulance service arrived on the scene around

6.30pm, and took the injured man to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

On Tuesday, a 42-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of causing grievous bodily harm.

He was taken to Bury St Edmunds Crime Investigation Centre for questioning.

Anyone who witnessed this incident, or who has any information in relation to it, is asked to contact Bury St Edmunds CID on 101 quoting reference HH/15/2480, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

POLITICS

Don't abolish working party, say councillors

TOWN councillors are calling on the borough council not to abolish Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP).

At a meeting of Haverhill town council on Tuesday, councillors voted to object to a proposal, made in a review conducted by the borough council, to scrap HAWP.

One reason for their objection was that there is no alternative body to bring together all the tiers of local government. The review asked if building upon ONE Haverhill's arrangements might be an alternative, but town councillors argued that it was for delivery of projects, not policy strategy.

The town council's response did suggest that HAWP meetings could be made more effective with changes to the terms of reference so the agendas were shorter and more focussed.

They also pointed out that the working party had not met since May's elections, and the new councillors should have a chance to take part in a HAWP meeting before any decisions on its future were made.

Their comments will now be submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

HOUSE FIRE

Discarded candle started fire which destroyed home

AFTERMATH: The fire-damaged home in Hollybush Way, Linton

A HOME was destroyed and two people were taken to hospital after a discarded candle started a fire in a wheelie bin.

Ursula Sullivan's home in Hollybush Way, Linton, caught fire in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service was called at 2.20am to Hollybush Way.

The cause of the fire was a discarded candle being left close to a bin.

A spokesperson for Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue said that the fire had started by the wheelie bin and a log pile, and spread to the porch and inside the front of the two-storey house.

Ms Sullivan and the other

FREYA LENG AND

occupant of the house – as well as their pet dog – were out of the property by the time the fire service arrived.

They were treated for smoke inhalation and were taken to hospital by ambulance.

Station Commander Paul Clarke said: "The residents had used candles during the night and discarded them near to a wheelie bin.

"Over the coming hours, this caused a fire to start in the wheelie bin, spreading to a nearby log pile.

"The wheelie bin was pushed right up against the house which resulted in the fire spreading to the porch and front of the property.

"Unfortunately, there has been quite a lot of damage to the house, which means it is not currently habitable.

"There are some important messages we would like to remind residents of; firstly, ensure candles are properly extinguished and cooled before discarding them.

"Never store wheelie bins directly up against property and most importantly, ensure you have a correctly fitted working smoke alarm on each floor of the property."

A fire investigation found the fire started accidentally.

The crew returned to their station by 4.35am.

CRIME

Police appeal for information after several homes targeted by burglars

POLICE are appealing for information after properties in Haverhill have been ransacked by burglars.

Several break-ins have taken place between September 19 and 25 in the town.

They all involved the burglars breaking the glass in a back door and making an untidy search of the properties looking for items to steal.

Insp Peter Ferrie of Haverhill Police said: "Several of them over the last week have been much the same. They have smashed entry to a rear patio door and the key has been turned."

Lots of jewellery was taken from a home in Haverhill's Hill Crescent in one such burglary on September 25.

Another incident occurred in Weddell Road on September 23, and a property in Hadrian Close suffered an attempted burglary on September 19 between 5pm and 11pm.

Insp Ferrie said: "The security advice is don't leave your keys in the back door. If they break a window they can get in."

He urged residents to call 999 if they saw anything suspicious.

PLANNING

Flats plan on controversial town site

AN application to build flats on a controversial site has been submitted - while a previous application for the same site is still under appeal.

Havebury Housing Association have put forward an application to build 13 apartments in Haverhill's Burton End.

A previous application to build 15 flats on the site was rejected by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in February due to the impact it would have on families living in the area. This came after another application to develop the site was withdrawn in 2014.

An appeal was lodged against St Edmundsbury's February decision in August this year and it has not yet been decided - but that hasn't stopped the current, similar, application being submitted.

Haverhill town council discussed the new application, submitted in August, at a planning committee meeting on Tuesday.

Having objected to the earlier application, the town council also objected to this one. Their reasons included the proposed development's impact on visual amenity and on traffic, as well as a lack of sufficient parking.

The latest application will now go before St Edmundsbury's planning committee.

CAMPAIGN

Everyday obstacle course

Katie Donno is campaigning to raise awareness of the difficulties wheelchair users face getting about in Haverhill. Reporter Hannah Mirsky joined her for a trip around town . . .

COBBLESTONES, A-boards and heavy doors are just some of the obstacles that make getting round Haverhill town centre difficult for 16-year-old Katie Donno.

The Cambridge Regional College student, who lives in Wrattling Road, has been a wheelchair user since being diagnosed with Complex Regional Pain Syndrome at the age of 14.

She's now campaigning to raise awareness of accessibility problems and change attitudes towards disability.

And as Haverhill News reported last week, Katie has uploaded a YouTube video showing the accessibility issues in the town centre.

She said: "There are no good bits in the town centre. A lot of the problems are the pavements and the cobbles. At Costa there's a lip on the door of about an inch, but it's enough that you have to tip your wheelchair.

"It's frustrating being in a chair and a lot of places don't cater for you."

Cobblestones, which are purely decorative and feature in the paving of Haverhill High Street, can trap the small front wheel of her chair. Katie says this can cause the chair to get stuck, and she is in danger of falling out if she tries to free the wheel.

A spokesperson for Suffolk County Council's highways team said: "We are aware of the condition of these roads and have provisionally programmed the section of the High Street, from Swan Lane to Quakers Lane, for resurfacing next year. In addition, we carry out monthly walked inspections of the High Street and Queens Street and undertake any repairs that meet our criteria."

Heavy doors are another problem: Katie has developed a method of opening pull doors by pushing against the wall next to them, but she cannot do this when they are large and heavy.

Aisles packed with products in shops pose another obstacle. Katie said: "I'm not looking forward to Christmas shopping because everything is everywhere."

Cllr Alaric Pugh, Vice-Chair of The One Haverhill Partnership and St Edmundsbury Borough Council Portfolio Holder for Planning and Growth said: "These are huge issues for the owners of shop buildings up and down the country. We are working to address these in Haverhill through the draft town centre masterplan which states that the new shop buildings must be designed for the mobility needs - not just of wheelchair users - but also for the elderly and people with pushchairs.

"While this will not offer a quick fix it is built into future plans."

A spokesperson for Costa said: "We are committed to ensuring that all customers are able to enjoy a great cup of coffee. Wherever possible we always look to install disabled access to our stores. In some of our stores, including our Haverhill High Street shop, existing site conditions make it unfeasible. The team members are trained to look out for customers needing assistance into the store and will always help wherever they can."

As well as physical obstacles, Katie wants to inform people about disability and change the attitudes she has encountered.

She has had people assume that her friend is her carer, and ignore her when she asks for help reaching something in a shop.

Katie also has dwarfism, and says that many dwarfs encounter negative attitudes. She said: "I know a lot of people with dwarfism have photos taken, are tapped on the head, picked up, laughed at, getting really bullied for it. I don't think that's right. I don't think it's acceptable."

She is hoping that by speaking out and being open about her day to day life - from buying boots that fit to discussing her chair with children - she can reduce the stigma.

She said: "Even having a chat with someone if they have a question, can help. I want to be the person who can help that and say: 'I can be completely honest.'"

Katie is planning on making more videos about getting around in other towns, including Cambridge and Brighton.

She has also been nominated for an "Inspire the House" award for her campaigning by West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

Crackdown on litter on playing field

CLEANED UP: The Puddlebrook Playing Field in Haverhill

Have your say at cambridge-news.
co.uk/haverhill

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

THE council is cracking down on the problem of litter on a playing field in Haverhill.

Puddlebrook Playing Field in Homefields Road is the site of five football pitches.

Chairman of Haverhill Hammers FC, Elliott Knight, says he has to clear litter from the pitch before almost all of his team's home games there.

He said: "It is frustrating when I turn up on a Sunday morning, as I go up and put the nets up and sort the pitch out ready for the game so it's all sorted."

"But nearly every week I have to clear a job load of rubbish off the pitch we are playing on."

"This also includes picking up after people who don't pick up after their dogs."

"A couple of weeks ago I went to use one of the pitches and someone had set fire to something in the goal area and in and around the posts, which took me quite some time to clear up."

However, dog walker Dee

Penman, 60, whose letter about the litter was published in the News last week, says that the footballers themselves leave behind a mess, with plastic bottles, orange peel and sticky tape left on the ground after matches.

She said: "You turn up there on a Monday morning and there are so many plastic bottles that have just been left there."

"There's the sticky tape they use and dogs have been eating it with potential for causing harm."

"If people see a mess they think nothing about leaving more."

But Mr Knight said his footballers were not responsible.

"I make sure our pitch is tidy when we leave but there are other teams that are allocated on the pitches," he said.

The playing fields are owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, and is let out by Abbeycroft, who run Haverhill leisure centre.

A spokesperson for St Edmundsbury Borough Council said that they had not previously been aware of the issue.

They said: "This is the first that we been made aware of a problem this season. Our partners at Abbeycroft Leisure let the site to customers."

"We will ask Abbeycroft to remind any booked users of the pitch to make sure any litter is picked up and we would also remind casual users and members of the public that they too must dispose of their litter appropriately."

"Our Waste Services team, who visit the site regularly, will keep an eye on the situation."

A spokesperson for Abbeycroft confirmed that they have now written to customers who use the pitch to remind them to pick up any litter.

The council said that these can cost the taxpayer "tens of thousands of pounds each year to deal with".

Landowners can submit suitable sites until November 15. For more information, go to suffolk.gov.uk/shortstay.

Currently, the county has none – but between 2009 and July 2015, there were 280 unauthorised gypsy and traveller encampments in the area.

Get the roads sorted first

I AM amazed that St Edmundsbury Borough Council have passed the Great Wisley Park plan for 2500 additional homes, without ensuring adequate infrastructure is in place first.

According to Railfuture Organisation, Haverhill, with 28,000 residents, is one of the largest towns in England unconnected to a railway network, and the Local Transport Plan states that 4,260 new homes are proposed at Haverhill with the population likely to grow to around 38,000 in the next decade.

Many residents in this area use the corridor A1307 to access jobs and services in Cambridge, and at the Science Parks, plus connection to the M11.

As those traveling on the A1307 will already know they face a 35-45 minute car journey at best on the congested, single lane through Linton to Cambridge, and by bus this stretches to at least an hour; these journeys will take possibly twice as long when the additional homes are completed.

I thought that we had a council to "plan" the future of towns, but clearly St Edmundsbury Borough Council is only intent on thinking of the additional Council Tax income from the properties and not the welfare of residents.

As I understand it currently their are "no firm plans" to improve the A1307, or any other key infrastructure, which is an indictment on the Council.

Yes, wheelchair access is poor

KATIE Donno is correct (Haverhill News, September 24) access is so poor why would you even try to shop in Haverhill.

I am at the other end of the age scale and use a wheeled walking frame with seat.

When you do manage to access the buildings, you cannot move around to view the items for sale etc.

I can name a company who have recently made a sloped access to the building. I queried was it wheelchair user friendly, no it's for the safety of staff and not wide enough for a wheelchair.

So I do most of my shopping on line, at least you know when you will get your delivery.

SUPERMOON: Patrick Ives took this amazing photo of the 'supermoon' lunar eclipse on Monday night, in Haverhill. The phenomenon was caused by the eclipse coinciding with the moon being at its shortest distance from the Earth, which makes it appear 14 per cent larger and 30 per cent brighter than when it is at its furthest point. The last time this 'supermoon' coincided with a lunar eclipse – when the moon is covered by the Earth's shadow – was in 1982. Stargazers will have to wait until 2033 to see the event again.

one to turn to. The UK's decision to offer sanctuary to hundreds if not thousands of these children is right; it would be morally indefensible not to. We will then have a solemn responsibility to protect the fragile lives of these traumatised children while they are in our country's care.

Our Government should urgently prioritise specialist, tailored care required by the unique circumstances of refugee children.

These children need, and deserve, a decent place to live with the right people and support in place for as long as they need it.

Firstly the Government needs specialist staff to immediately identify the type of support these children need; some will need help for trauma or mental health.

They need to ensure that children stay in sensitive, loving foster homes whilst they live in the country, and that each foster carer has been specially trained to nurture them and meet their needs.

That will mean they stay in appropriate accommodation too. Shockingly, many unaccompanied and potentially trafficked children end up staying in bed and breakfasts without much support. As a result, two-thirds go missing from care, putting them in danger from traffickers or predatory adults. Secondly, we must ensure that every child is treated as a child – not an adult.

Most of these children will be travelling undocumented so officials must judge if they are under 18. Finally, we need to make sure these children are supported in their transition to adulthood.

We are worried that the period after the age of 18 is a particularly vulnerable time for unaccompanied young people as they lose support from children's services. At Barnardo's we have specialist staff that could provide the critical 'triage' that newly arrived children and young people will need. We also have trained foster carers to look after unaccompanied children seeking asylum.

As Syrian children are coming to the UK direct from refugee camps they may have been picked up by traffickers in the camps, or as they move across Europe.

Trafficked children and young people are supported by our independent advocates in 23 local authorities in England. Advocates walk with children every step of the way through what can be a frightening time – navigating the care system to have a secure home and immigration processes to have the right to stay. The government and local authorities should draw on such experience and expertise in putting together the package of support to help refugee children.

Our hope at Barnardo's is that the people of the UK can support these children in a meaningful way, helping them to overcome their experiences escaping from war so they can imagine a safe future.

Running to raise funds for my daughter's ward

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

THE father of a girl who suffers from a rare blood condition has completed a run from his home in Haverhill to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

Dan Nicholls was taking part in the run to raise money for the C2 ward at the hospital which treats his daughter Bella, 2, for a condition called neutropenia.

Bella's condition means that her body does not produce enough white blood cells to fight off infections. Less than a week before Dan's run, she was back in C2 ward with an ear infection.

Dan and his wife Sara, who live with Bella and her sister Leah on Haverhill's Hales Barn Estate, have been fundraising for the ward since March this year.

It is the climax of a campaign of fundraising events which included a clairvoyancy evening and a friend of theirs cycling 1,000 miles on an exercise bike.

Their initial fundraising target was £1,000, but they have so far raised £2,884 – and hope to reach £3,000 before they stop taking donations on October 5.

The money will go towards play equipment for the children being treated on C2 ward, which treats a variety of blood conditions including leukaemia.

Sara said: "We are really hoping to make £3,000 – we didn't even think we'd make £1,000."

Dan had been training for months for the 15-mile run to the hospital. He started running at 9.30am and reached Addenbrooke's at 12.30pm. After the run, Dan and the rest of the family visited the ward again, giving out balloons and lollies to the children there.

Sara said: "It's heart-breaking – it sort of brings it home to you."

BOOKS

Top crime author to visit town library

A POPULAR crime novelist will be paying a visit to Haverhill library – after they won a competition with a display of books.

M C Beaton, author of the Agatha Raisin and Hamish MacBeth series of novels, will be at the library on Wednesday, October 28. She has written over 100 books and is the most-borrowed adult author from UK libraries.

She will be visiting after the library won a national competition to create the best M C Beaton-themed display. The author chose the winning display herself.

Haverhill Library manager, Sanphra Wilmott, said: "We were thrilled to win this competition and are very excited that such a popular author is coming to our library. Our staff put together a wonderful display celebrating M.C. Beaton's books which even featured a real life police officer! So it's a great reward for their creativity that we are able to host this special event."

The writer will talk about her latest novel and will sign books. The talk will start at 2pm and tickets cost £5. Proceeds will go towards the Friends of Haverhill Library.

Tickets are on sale now. For more information call the library on 01440 702638.

VINTAGE VEHICLES: Were among the attractions at Thurlow Fayre

2,000 people attend village fayre

A COUNTRY-themed village fair raised over £5,000 and was attended by 2,000 people last month.

The Thurlow Fayre was held on September 8.

Animal-themed entertainments at the annual event included sheep racing, a petting zoo and a dog show.

Refreshments were available at hot food stalls – including a hog roast – and stalls selling tea and cake.

Music was provided by the Hadstock silver band and a school choir, and the raffle's cash prize was won by resident Janice Klimke of Little Thurlow.

The thousands raised by the event will now be re-invested in Great and Little Thurlow, including in the two churches, the school, and the village hall.

PLANNING

Wind turbine appeal fails

A CONTROVERSIAL proposed wind turbine will not be built – after being rejected by both the borough council and the planning inspectorate.

A key reason for the appeal being dismissed is that local councillors and residents have been fighting it since it was first submitted.

Planning inspector Ron Boyd wrote in his report that he supported the principle that "local people should have the final say on wind energy proposals".

The original application to build the turbine, on farmland at Nosterfield End just outside Haverhill, was submitted in February 2013.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

It was rejected by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in February 2014, as councillors thought it would damage the character of the area.

Saffron Walden-based applicant James Sills launched an appeal against the decision last September, which was dismissed on Monday.

Haverhill Town Council, Helions Bumpstead parish council and residents in Hazel Stub near the proposed site were all involved in objecting to the application.

Chair of Helions Bumpstead parish council Jane Catchsides said: "It's a brilliant result, absolutely brilliant, and it shows that local democracy still works."

"We are just across the border into Essex but we made a contribution to the board at St Edmundsbury."

"Lots of people in Helions Bumpstead would have been affected by it. It would have damaged the sight-line an awful lot."

Another reason for the dismissal was that it would result in "some limited harm to living conditions" for those living within 1km of the site.

HEALTH

Have a say on disability services

DISABLED people in Suffolk have the chance to shape the way the county's disability services are provided.

Anyone with a physical, learning or sensory disability or a mental health issue is being invited to attend a Disability Focus session.

The event occurs at One, Scrivener Drive, Ipswich on Tuesday, October 27, from 10am to 3pm.

There will be workshop sessions to focus on particular issues and a number of stands. The feedback given will go towards shaping how services are provided.

For more information and to book a place, please contact Avenues East on 01473 836777 or email enquiries@avenuesgroup.org.uk.

COUNCIL

Years of service recognised

FORMER borough councillors who were in the post for as long as 26 years have been recognised for their years of service.

Robert Clifton-Brown of Withersfield ward was the longest-serving councillor commended at a full meeting of St Edmundsbury Borough Council on Tuesday, September 22.

He had spent over a quarter of a century working for the local community.

Derek Redhead of Wickhambrook ward was recognised for 20 years as a councillor.

Phillip French and Adam Whittaker, who served Haverhill town wards, were recognised for 12 years of service each.

In total nine councillors were recognised, for having a total of 140 years serving the people of St Edmundsbury.

A vote of thanks was also given to a number of other former councillors. These included Maureen Byrne, who is still a Haverhill town councillor, Anne Gower, and the late Paul McManus.

CRIME

Renewed appeal for lead theft witnesses

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

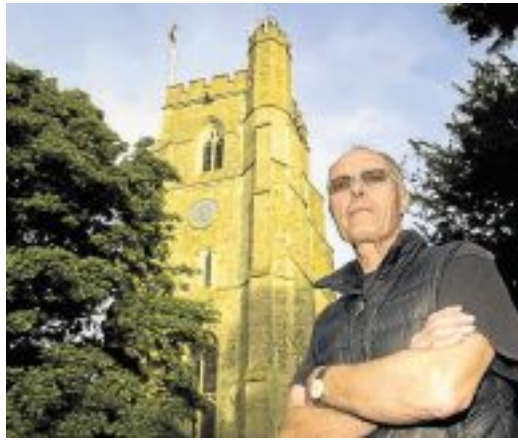

A RENEWED appeal is being made for local communities to report unusual activity near churches – after a series of thefts of roof lead.

All Saints Church in Hundo had two 660 square foot sections of its roof stolen a fortnight ago, between 5pm on Thursday, September 17 and 9am on Friday, September 18.

It was followed by the theft of lead from All Saints Church in Chevington, between September 18 and 25.

The Chevington church had half of the lead from the roof of its chancel stolen around this time last year, and now the other half has been taken.

This amounts to seven thefts in around a month, with other incidents occurring since August 23 in Lavenham, Combs, Stratford St Mary, Parham and Den-nington. In July, St Peter's and St Paul's church in Little Thurlow and St Mary's Church in Hawkedon also had lead stolen from their roofs.

The Reverend Stuart Miller, rector of the Stour Valley benefice, which includes All Saints' Church, is encouraging local people to get in touch with the police if they see anything suspicious.

He said: "It isn't a usual thing to see a large van and persons roaming around on the roof. If you see anything suspicious, the police are very willing to receive the reports."

The lead stolen from the roof of the Hundo church was worth £30,000 – not all of which will be covered by insurance.

Church warden Marcus Field-Rayner said: "Upset is probably too mild a term. We are trying to raise money for a facilities project and this is the last thing we needed."

The church community had been raising money to install a toilet and a sink in the building, but this may now be delayed.

Mr Field-Rayner added: "The main thing is to stop them here and now."

Inspector Peter Ferrie of Haverhill Police said: "If anyone sees anyone acting suspiciously, they must ring us on 999. We do need to get out there and catch these people."

SPORT

Triathlon is this weekend

HAVERHILL'S very own triathlon returns to the town this weekend.

The event, called HaverTri, attracted nearly 200 athletes when it was held for the first time last year.

This year it is being held alongside a brand-new duathlon, HaverDua, for non-swimmers.

Both events will start at Haverhill Leisure Centre on October 4 and will have two distance options.

Organiser Jack Tappin said: "The triathlon was very well received last year and we've had strong take up again this year, proving the popularity here of one of Britain's fastest growing sports."

"The two distances available make HaverTri suitable for either novices or veteran athletes, so I look forward to a wide variety of athletes joining us next weekend to celebrate triathlon and duathlon in Haverhill."

Don't get in hot water!

Charlotte Vallins, a Solicitor at Ashton KCJ, offers some advice from a legal perspective.

Landlords must act to avoid ending up in hot water over heating supplies. They must comply with the introduction of new regulations requiring individual metering and charging on communal heating and other forms of heat networks.

Landlords operating a communal heat supply have until 31st December 2015 to comply with regulations which introduce new responsibilities on how services are metered and charged. The regulations apply to any type of building where the building is heated, cooled, or supplies hot water from a central source.

Technical details of the heating system or network must be reported to the National Measurement & Regulation Office no later than 31st December this year, and where applicable metering equipment must be in place by one year later; 31st December 2016.

Landlords will have a duty to install and maintain meters to monitor individual consumption, unless they can present a good case to show why it would not be technically feasible or cost-effective. For new buildings, meters must be installed from the outset.

The aim is to increase accountability and understanding of individual energy usage and, once meters are fitted, all invoices for heating will have to charge for actual usage and present the customer with accurate consumption information.

Commercial Property Solicitor Charlotte Vallins says: "It is important that landlords take action sooner rather than later. If they fail to comply, it may lead to compliance notices and possibly financial penalties."

The Heat Network (Metering and Billing) Regulations 2014 have been introduced in the UK in response to the European Energy Efficiency Directive.

The types of buildings affected include those with a central boiler serving more than one occupier, or a heat network where a boiler is shared with other buildings. This could involve anything from small residential or commercial developments through to blocks of flats, university campuses and shopping centres.

This is not legal advice; it is intended to provide information of general interest about current legal issues.

REFUGEES CRISIS

Haverhill could soon take in refugee families

TOWN councillors are preparing for the possibility that Syrian refugees could be allocated to live in Haverhill.

At the town council's full council meeting on Tuesday night, councillors discussed what the town could do to help.

Cllr David Roach said: "The county is going to co-ordinate the response. Their view is that most of the allocations will go to Lowestoft and Ipswich. It will be about 200 families, guided by the county council. We do not know figures as yet."

But Cllr Clive Turner said: "I think as a town we need to ask: 'Are we ready?'"

Cllr Maureen Byrne added: "We should find out what support we can give... I still think we need to discuss whether we want to support any refugees coming into East Anglia."

At their recent meeting, the Suffolk Public Sector Leaders discussed the crisis and plight of refugees.

The group decided Suffolk should be playing a part in helping to support the refugees who are set to be relocated to the UK.

They said that all partners would have to work together.

NATALIE ROBINSON AND HANNAH MIRSKY

A public sector working group is also to be set up to co-ordinate the work needed to be done before the refugees arrive.

Cllr Jennie Jenkins, chairman of Suffolk Public Sector Leaders added: "We appreciate all the offers of support that the public have already made and encourage anyone who would like to know how they can make a contribution at this stage to make contact with the organisations co-ordinating the UK response."

"Once plans for Suffolk have been developed, a way for people to make contributions locally will be established."

Haverhill town council decided not to make any firm decisions at this stage.

The Red Cross, The Home Office and Save the Children are all co-ordinating national efforts to help refugees. For information, go to gov.uk/government/news/syria-refugees-what-you-can-do-to-help-2.

Is that Poirot?

DON'T miss celebrated actor and Poirot star David Suchet as the formidable Lady Bracknell in Oscar Wilde's much loved masterpiece The Importance of Being Earnest, broadcast Live to Haverhill Arts Centre from London's Vaudeville Theatre next Thursday, October 8, at 8.00pm.

Wilde's satire on Victorian manners is one of the funniest plays in the English language. Two bachelor friends, the adorable dandy Algernon Moncrieff and the utterly reliable John Worthing J.P, lead double lives to court the attentions of the exquisitely desirable Gwendolyn and Cecily. The gallants must then grapple with the riotous consequences of their deceptions – and with the formidable Lady Bracknell.

CINEMA: Meryl Streep stars in Ricki and The Flash (12A) on October 9

■ Blast from the Past present six of the best for a musical theatre performance of The Canterbury Tales. They have previously treated us to such delights as A Victorian Christmas and A Medieval Christmas and now we can enjoy their take on the characters of Middle England, as seen by Geoffrey Chaucer. The show, tomorrow at 7.30pm, promises to be a little bawdy, thanks mainly to that naughty Wife of Bath, so the recommendation is that this performance is suitable for over 12s.

■ Celebrated actor and Poirot star David Suchet stars as the formidable Lady Bracknell in Oscar Wilde's much loved satire The Importance of Being Earnest, which will be broadcast live from The Vaudeville Theatre on Thursday, October 8, at 7.15pm. (See Guide front)

■ On the cinema front with a stellar cast including Charlotte Rampling, Tom Courtenay and Geraldine James, 45 Years (15) is showing on Tuesday 6, and October 13, at 7.30pm. Kate and Geoff are celebrating their 45th wedding anniversary when the mysterious discovery of a woman from Geoff's past creates unfamiliar doubts and misgivings in their marriage.

There's more stellar casting in the form of Meryl Streep, Kevin Kline and Marnie Gummer plus a dynamite soundtrack in RICKI AND THE FLASH (12A) on Friday 9 October at 7.30pm. Fading guitar heroine Ricki gave up everything to live her dream of rock stardom. She breaks off from her perpetual touring to re-establish links with her family and help her grown-up daughter Julie whose engagement has just abruptly ended.

■ Events to look out for include The Lisa Mason School of Dance showcase We Are Family on Saturday, October 10 and Sunday, October 11, and two Bolshoi Ballet broadcast performances of Giselle on Monday, October 12. If you would like to see Benedict Cumberbatch as Hamlet in our live broadcast on Thursday, October 15, act quickly: tickets are almost sold out. We are thinking another showing might be appreciated, watch this space!

MUSICAL THEATRE: Historical theatre company Blast from the Past are performing The Canterbury Tales at Haverhill Arts Centre tomorrow. BELOW: 45 Years (15) is showing October 6 and 13

FIRST TIME BUYERS

Become a home owner... ARE YOU READY?

Key advice for first time buyers

SO, you've scrimped and saved. You've possibly moved back home with your parents to do so (thanks, folks!). You've cut down, budgeted, spent as little as possible and put all your pennies into your savings account for what probably feels like FOREVER, and now you're – finally – ready to buy your first home. Congratulations!

Although what is about to follow is, undoubtedly, the fun bit, there are still a few things that you need to be aware of along the way. Follow these tips and you should soon be putting your feet up and enjoying your very own property...

BE REALISTIC Budgeting is key. Before you start your property search, sit down and make an honest no-holds-barred appraisal of your finances. What size of mortgage can you get? What level of repayment can you afford? How big is your deposit? Use all of these to come up with your absolute maximum property price. Write this down somewhere and stick to it – it is all too easy to get carried away when you see a property that you love, and end up making an offer over your limit, in a bid to secure it.

LOCATION LOCATION LOCATION If you can't compromise on price, you might be able to compromise on location. Get a map and plot out the outer limits of the area that you would be prepared to live in. Limit your search to those areas.

DREAM HOME With your budget and location now decided, it's time to take a look at what kind of property your money will buy. If you have an absolute requirement for a certain number of bedrooms, reception rooms or outside space, then keep these in mind when searching. If you can be flexible – all the better!

Remember, as a first-time buyer, with no complicated property 'chain' dragging behind you, you are a very attractive proposition for vendors. Don't be afraid to use this to your advantage in negotiations – especially if the vendor is keen for a quick and hassle-free sale.

View as many properties as you can, until you are certain that you've found The One for you. Enjoy the process, and good luck!

Wheels

LIGHT: Vauxhall's new Astra

New Astra in October showroom debut

THE new Astra is now on sale, with first cars arriving in Vauxhall showrooms this October after its global debut at the Frankfurt Motor Show.

One of the UK's top-selling and best-loved cars, Astra is a household name for British car buyers with almost three million sold in the UK over the last 36 years, including 50,000 in the last 12 months. More than 25 per cent of British motorists have either owned or driven an Astra, so reaction to a new model will always be felt across the market.

New Astra is based on an all-new lightweight vehicle architecture with a new design, powertrains and technology, the Astra is built at Vauxhall's Ellesmere Port manufacturing plant in Cheshire. It is the lead plant for the new model.

The powertrain portfolio features petrol and diesel units ranging from 100PS to 200PS, including an all-new 1.4-litre (150PS) ECOTEC Direct Injection Turbo and the recently-launched 1.6-litre CDTi Whisper Diesel.

RANGE: The new Kia cee'd

25% reductions for new cee'd engines

KIA's all-European cee'd family has become the first range to be fitted with the company's advanced new powertrains, which bring reductions of up to 25 per cent in fuel consumption and CO2 emissions.

There are three new turbocharged engines – two petrol units and one diesel – plus a seven-speed double-clutch (7-DCT) automatic transmission for use in conjunction with the new diesel.

They form part of a simultaneous upgrade of all three cee'd body styles – the five-door cee'd, three-door pro_ cee'd and cee'd Sportswagon. First deliveries will be arriving in UK dealerships on October 1, with prices for the revised models with new engines – including a new 1.0-litre ecoTurbo petrol unit – starting at £16,795.

Aston Martin DB9 GT

THE final curtain is calling for Aston's beautiful DB9, but this latest GT form is the most sensational version to date.

What's new?

There's a great number of new things on the horizon for Aston Martin; a new Bond film, a new generation of cars and a new partnership with AMG, all of which are brimming with promise for the British manufacturer. These things are still to come however, and in the meantime, the car that began the Aston Martin rival has been refreshed.

This GT version is the final hurrah for the DB9, the V12 grand tourer that has best encapsulated the notion of a modern Aston Martin in the 21st Century. The GT receives unique alloy wheels, black detailing to the front and rear aerodynamic elements, black brake callipers and detail changes to the head and tail lights. The long-serving 6.0-litre engine gets a power boost too.

Looks and image

Given its age it is remarkable how little the DB9's shape has changed over the last decade, but that is a testament to just how pretty it was in the first place. The subtle enhancements of this GT version are just that; welcome, but just fresh icing on a delicious cake. The black-finished front splitter and rear diffuser are nice touches and the new wheels are a delight.

Those looks are still guaranteed to turn heads, which is part of the reason it has such a fantastic image. British, stylish and relatively discreet – just like a certain secret agent.

Space and practicality

The DB9 is better than it used to be in this respect, although it's best suited to two adults with the possible occasional inclusion of a pair of small children. It's a grand tourer in the traditional sense, so there's an intimate cabin for the two up front and 155 litres of space for your weekend luggage in the boot, and use the rear seats for odds and ends. The latest infotainment upgrade is a welcome addition too, with better responses and more features than before.

Behind the wheel

The DB9 GT isn't just a high performance grand tourer, it is a car that delivers a genuine sense of occasion. Sliding behind the wheel into the beautifully finished cabin makes you feel special; firing up the V12 engine confirms it.

Driven sensibly, the DB9 GT is low effort and comfortable. The ride is well judged, keeping everything level and stable but filtering out road pimples, while the automatic gearbox marshals the huge amount of torque on offer. Squeeze the accelerator gently and there's a seemingly infinite amount of urge available, all delivered without any fuss.

Really press on and the DB9 GT is ready to play. It's a relatively big car but there's three damper settings and three for the stability control too, and should you be feeling brave and talented, it will play the hooligan. As fast (if not faster) than you could possibly need in the UK and beyond, it is a car that delights in so many ways.

Value for money

The question of value operates in reverse when discussing a luxury car; it's not so much whether the car is worth the money, but how often does the car remind you how much it is worth? In the case of the DB9 GT, that is on a regular basis. The quality of the materials is superb; flawless stitching in the beautiful leather, glinting chrome and carpet you want to dig bare feet into. The short of it is you will never feel short-changed for your £140,000.

Who would buy one?

James Bond would buy one if he didn't get an Aston in his company car scheme, but for us mortals at least, the DB9 should either be in your underground garage or a poster on your bedroom wall. It's become an Aston Martin icon in its own lifetime, and while there is a new car on the horizon, it has some spectacularly large shoes to fill. There will be faint tears when it finally moves on.

This car summed up in a single word: Bewitching

If this car was a...: sculpture mounted on a plinth in Trafalgar Square, it would get more salutes than Nelson.

New Focus RS is 165mph 4WD drifter

THE new Ford Focus RS is the fastest ever accelerating car to wear the company's legendary RS badge. Capable of 0-62mph in 4.7 seconds, the Focus RS will reach a top speed of 165mph and cost from £28,940.

It comes with a 350bhp 2.3-litre turbocharged petrol engine and has four-wheel drive to make sure all of the power can be used safely. There are also different Drive Modes to allow the driver to tailor the car to the conditions or his preferences, including a Drift Mode inspired by Ford's Rally X racer Ken Block.

TURBOCHARGED: 4WD treat

The new Focus RS is the 30th car to wear the RS badge and is one of 12 new performance models Ford has planned between now and 2020. Deliveries to customers will begin in early 2016.

JAMES MAY: 'It's all a bit ugly and unfortunate'

James May decrees Volkswagen turmoil is progress incentive

FORMER Top Gear presenter James May has said he would not be surprised if Volkswagen is not the only car-maker found to be cheating clean-air tests.

But the petrolhead said history would suggest that the scandal will ultimately result in improvements.

Volkswagen's admission that some of its cars cheated clean-air tests in the US has led to calls for stricter testing in Europe. In the US, 11m diesel cars have been recalled and there are now concerns about the state of play for Audi and Skoda, two other car makers who are part of the Volkswagen group.

Asked if he was surprised at what has emerged about the German car-maker, May said: "I am surprised, to be honest. I also, I don't know if I should say this, I wouldn't be surprised if they turned out not to be the only ones."

Speaking at a press event ahead of a BBC show he is involved with called Building Cars Live, he said he did not know "the ins and outs" of the issue, and joked: "I don't have a diesel".

Asked about what he thought the consequences of the scandal would be, he told reporters it would result in "probably yet more scrutiny".

May said the thing he finds interesting about the history of the car when you look at "the big picture" is that every time there is something that car-makers and consumers complain about – issues that would appear to be a barrier in the way of the car – it results in improvements.

Making reference to previous changes such as safety requirements, he said: "Everybody says this will ruin motoring, this is the end of the golden era, it's going to make cars impossible to drive and boring too."

"But every single time it happens it makes cars better."

May said these issues tend to be a "stimulus for improving the car". He added: "So if there's a bit of a scandal about diesel and it's all a bit ugly and unfortunate, but I bet you in five years time when cars are still being fitted with diesel engines they'll be much better as a result."

MISSING CAT, SHIMA - BASSINGBOURN/WHADDON AREA

Near to Basingbourn Barracks
PLEASE HELP FIND HIM
Went missing on Tuesday 23 June.

He is a Grey Brown Tabby.
Although the photo shows a collar he wasn't wearing a collar when he went missing.

He is a much loved member of the family, greatly missed and I am still searching for him.
I would appreciate any information as I am desperate to know what has happened to him.
If something bad has happened, please, I just need to know.

Staines strike in vain for Borough

A WONDER strike from Matt Staines was not enough for Haverhill Borough as they suffered a 5-1 defeat against March in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division.

He equalised early on with a curling shot from distance.

But the away side had too much for the hosts, despite goalkeeper Charlie Turner saving a penalty which he had conceded himself following a foul on the Hares' Matt Barber.

There was also disappointment for Haverhill Rovers in the Premier Division as they were on the wrong end of a 3-0 scoreline away to third-placed Felixstowe & Walton United.

Rovers reserves were able to buck the trend, however, as they claimed a 4-1 success against their Long Melford counterparts in the Suffolk County Reserves Cup.

They fell behind against the run of play after Jeff Abila had missed a good chance, and Abila was also denied by the woodwork.

Their pressure paid off and they levelled matters through Will Bailey, who fired home from Mitchell Burr's cross.

Abila managed to get his

name on the score sheet before the break to put Rovers ahead, and they increased their advantage after the interval thanks to Burr rounding the goalkeeper and slotting in after being found by Ollie Stevenson.

The victory, along with a place in the the next round, was sealed when substitute James Austin turned his marker and netted with his right foot.

Rovers A are safely through to the second round of the Reg Haigh & Arthur Peck Cup after they romped to a 6-0 victory at Haslingfield.

Several chances went begging before Josh Ruthven fired them ahead from long range.

Jordan Day doubled their lead before half time, Carl Bradford notched with the aid of a deflection and Billy Bush claimed a brace, with his second goal coming from the penalty spot.

Kieran Stratton completed the scoring from eight yards out.

And Steve Martin was among the goals in Rovers veterans' 2-2 draw with Cherry Hinton.

NICE GOAL: Matt Staines struck for Haverhill Borough

Youth football

Hamer on target with two in cup

AARON Hamer hit two for Aztecs White under-12s as they booked their place in the second round of the Cambridge & District Colts League Cup with a 5-0 win over Comberton Crusaders.

Billy Hunt put Aztecs ahead after just five minutes, with Hamer's quickfire double ensuring they were 3-0 up at the interval.

Freddie Hounscome increased the lead after the break when he punished a goalkeeping error.

And Oliver Scroggie wrapped up the win with a penalty.

Hockey

Thomas is on target for a draw

HAVERHILL picked up a point with a 1-1 draw away to Spalding in East Women's League, Division 3NW.

Kim Thomas was on the score sheet for the visitors, who have four points to their name from their opening two fixtures.

Haverhill's seconds were due to play St Neots III in 4NW(S), but their opponents could not raise a side.

Whiting claims Haverhill junior title with dominant performance

The 36-hole medal competition saw Whiting card round of 73 and a three under par 67 to win the scratch competition with a total of 140.

He was a massive 26 shots clear of runner-up James Iron (80, 86), while Ben Bradnam took third on 172 (88, 84).

Bradnam had the edge in the

handicap trophy though, finishing on 132 after rounds of 68 and 64.

Whiting was second on 136 (71, 65) and Iron came third with 142 (68, 74).

John Kennedy and Paul Bartlett needed countback to win the Woodlands Cup.

The pairs better ball stableford saw Kennedy and Bartlett score 47 points along with Peter Amies and Neil Farenden, but they secured the title on the tiebreaker.

Dave Spittle and John Young finished third on 45.

Julie Donno won the ladies' Fraser Plate after two rounds of competition.

The midweek round was won by Denise Walker on 33, with Siobhan Harrison second on 31 and Gerry Wheatley taking third on countback with 29.

But Donno's score of 36 was enough to see her win the weekend competition and clinch the overall win, with Jenni Bradnam second in the weekend event on 33 and Pat Kennedy third on 30.

Andy Gage scored 42 points to win the men's IFF Challenge and top Division One.

Frazer Curl's round of nett 63 saw him win the medal and M Rayner Cup, along with triumphing in Division One.

Gary Cowley won Division Two on 65 and Graham Hepworth took the win in Division Three on 71.
